What's been happening this week at Fairley House...

PLANT DETECTIVES - KNIGHTLEY

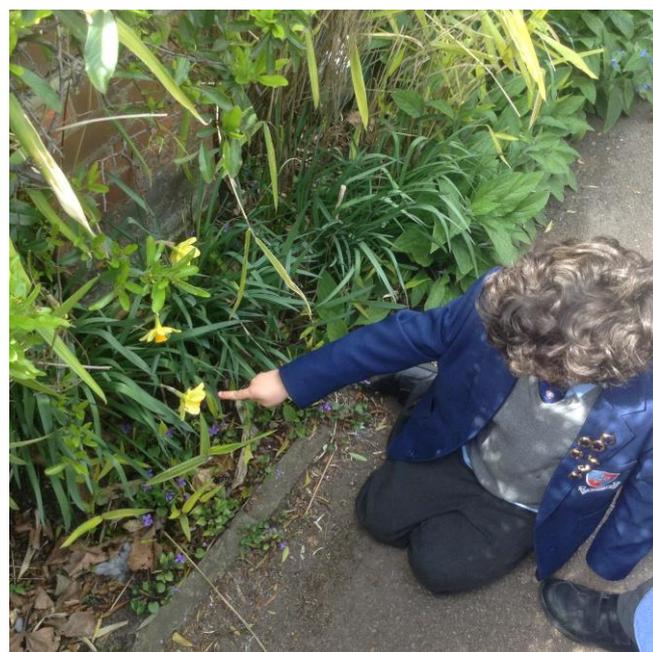

On Thursday 21st April, Knightley Class became plant detectives. We walked round our local area keeping our eyes peeled for different plants.

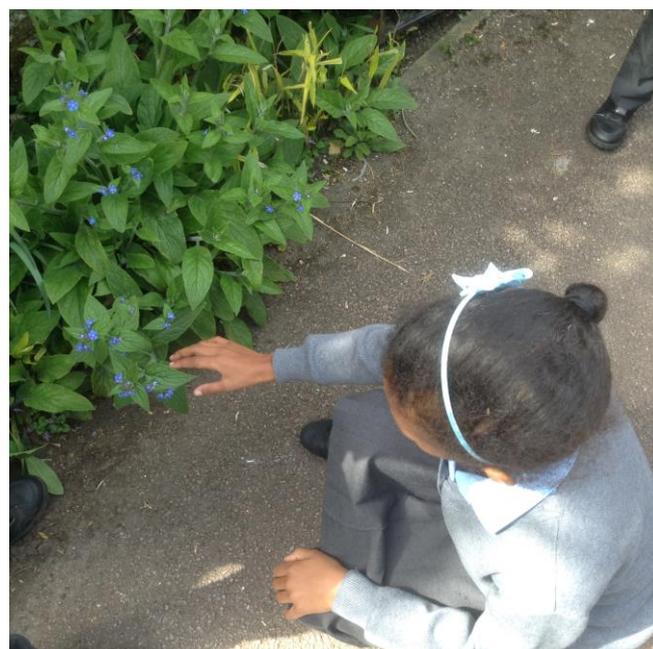

We found big plants, little plants, open flowers, closed flowers, bright petals, dark petals, bees enjoying the nectar and so much more!

We were even able to name some of the plants, but some were a little more tricky.

We took lots of pictures of evidence and now it's back to the classroom to classify our plants and to investigate what plants need to grow and flourish! We will keep you updated!!

HOUSE ACTIVITIES - JUNIORS

On Friday 22nd April, Fairley House Junior School undertook their termly elections. We all gathered in our Houses and members of our group then delivered their campaign speech to become the new House Captain. Many children delivered well thought-through and polished speeches, others provided passionate, impromptu speeches and the rest of us were active listeners, carefully considering who we thought would represent and motivate our House the best.

Once the speeches were delivered the voting began. We all cast one vote, in secret. The teachers then collected in the slips and collated the results, but we had a tense wait to find out the results, after we had taken part in our healthy living activities. We will share them with you now!

Next, it was on to our activities. We had three activities based on how to live a healthier life.

Healthy Eating: For this activity we discussed the different food groups, which foods are in each food group and how much we need of each. We completed a food pyramid to help us see what this might look like. Then we made our very own fruit kebabs, with some of us even trying new fruit for the very first time!

Physical Health: We all know that exercise forms part of a healthy lifestyle. The government recommends that we do at least one exercise a day! This could take many forms! We could run, scoot, dance, do yoga, lift weights, swim or play a team sport! There are so many options. Today, we explored as team a number of different activities including, scooting on the scooter boards, shooting hoops, scoring goals, skipping, completing an obstacle course and trying to knock down skittles using rockets!!

Emotional Health: We also explored the idea that our emotions can affect our health and it is very important for us to ensure that we are emotionally healthy. Today, we thought about this in the context of playing games. We discussed how we might feel whilst playing a game with our peers and strategies which we could employ to keep our emotions in check. Together we played a range of games, putting our strategies into practise. After we had finished, we discussed the strategies which we or our friends had used! It was very helpful and we even taught some of the teachers a thing or two about not being too competitive!

A great time was had by all and we look forward to becoming a healthier and even happier Fairley House as the term goes on!

JUNIOR BAKE OFF!

Jamie Black (Year 6) is sending off his application this weekend in hopes to appear on Junior Bake Off.

His cake comes from a recipe by Irish chef - Rachel Allen.

I think you will agree, it's a Showstopper of a cake.

WRIGHT CLASS – PLANTS!

This week, Wright Class have been exploring the roots of plants. We went on a dig in the garden to look at the different types of roots. We even found a potato lurking in one of the pots! We can now explain how the roots of a plant help it to grow.

CS VISITOR

On Thursday 28th April Wendy Griffiths, Headmistress of Tudor Hall, came to visit FHS. She was given a tour by two year 6 pupils, Breeze and Maddie. Wendy said she was very impressed with the maturity and diligence of the pupils.

CS ASSEMBLY

On Friday 29th April, Causton Street received a visit from two ex-pupils, Alex and Daniel, who left in July 2015.

They held a talk on how it feels to go back into mainstream school and how Fairley House was an amazing experience.

PHONE AND DEVICE SAFETY

Keep Personal Information Personal

Not everyone needs to know your personal relationship status or your home address. If they are friends or family, they already know so no need to post.

Keep Your Privacy Settings On

Take charge of your information. Check the settings available on your device to protect your privacy online. Major websites like Facebook also have privacy-enhancing settings available. These settings are sometimes (deliberately) hard to find, the school will help, if unsure please contact us and we will show you how to protect yourselves and your children.

Be Careful What You Post

The Internet does not have a delete key. Any comment or image you post online may stay online forever because removing the original does not remove any copies that other people made. There is no way for you to "take back" a remark you wish you hadn't made, or get rid of that embarrassing selfie you took at a party. Don't put anything online that you wouldn't want your Mum or Dad to see.

Be Careful Who You Meet Online

People you meet online are not always who they claim to be. Indeed, they may not even be real. As InfoWorld reports, fake social media profiles are a popular way for hackers to cozy up to unwary Web users and pick their cyber pockets. Be as cautious and sensible in your online social life as you are in your in-person social life.

Practise Safe Browsing

You wouldn't choose to walk through a dangerous neighbourhood—don't visit dangerous neighbourhoods online. Place parental controls on all devices. It is easy to get to horrid stuff unless you protect your children and devices. Again, we can help with this. If unsure how to set parental controls, please contact the school

Make Sure Your Internet Connection is Secure

When you go online in a public place, for example by using a public Wi-Fi connection, you have no direct control over its security. Make sure your device is secure, and when in doubt, wait for a better time. (i.e. until you're able to connect to a secure Wi-Fi network like at home) before providing information such as your bank account number (Corporate cybersecurity experts worry about "endpoints"—the places where a private network connects to the outside world. Your vulnerable endpoint is your local Internet connection.)

Be Careful What You Download

A top goal of cybercriminals is to trick you into downloading malware—programs or apps that carry malware or try to steal information. This malware can be disguised as an app: anything from a popular game to something that checks traffic or the weather. As PCWorld advises, don't download apps that look suspicious or come from a site you don't trust.

Choose Strong Passwords

Passwords are one of the biggest weak spots in the whole Internet security structure, but there's currently no way around them. And the problem with passwords is that people tend to choose easy ones to remember (such as "password" and "123456"), which are also easy for cyber thieves to guess. Select strong passwords that are harder for cybercriminals to demystify. Password manager software can help you to manage multiple passwords so that you don't forget them. A strong password is one that is unique and complex—at least 15 characters long, mixing letters, numbers and special characters.

Make Online Purchases from Secure Sites

Any time you make a purchase online, you need to provide credit card or bank account information—just what cybercriminals are most eager to get their hands on. Only supply this information to sites that provide security.

Don't show off!

If you have a new phone or an expensive device, then someone else may want it. Only use it when necessary and if unsure then keep it in your pocket. When using be aware of what is happening around you. Keep your guard up and be aware of your environment. Don't let it be a target to thieves.
